Assignment: Feature test for registration with credit card

Note: If you are using Nitrous.io as your development environment, you need to install `phantomsjs` package on your system, following this guide here. Then you can use the Poltergeist driver for capybara.

Note: You may need to add some sleeping time so that selenium can wait for the request to Stripe to come back. Please see this discussion thread. You could also adjust the default max wait time in Capybara.
